

The following is a summary of my teaching evaluations from Fall 2007 to Spring 2012; upon request, I can provide copies of the original evaluations (18 sheets) and the associated handwritten student comments (405 sheets). A ranking of one indicates “unacceptable,” while 10 is “outstanding.” The students select whole numbers between one and 10. Instructor indicates that I was the course instructor (i.e., the instructor of record). A Supplemental Section is a discussion section associated with a main lecture taught by a faculty member. # Resp. and # Stud. are the number of responses and students; Dept. and Inst. stand for department and instructor; and Std. Dev. means standard deviation.

Evaluations from two summer courses (for which I was the instructor) are excluded from this list: Essentials of Economics (2008) and Principles of Agricultural and Resource Economics (2011). Each had too few students to generate evaluations.
